Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 19 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Becoming dry and chilly tonight, rain Thursday afternoon.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any showers will die away during the evening, with some long clear spells developing overnight. Becoming chilly by morning with rural parts seeing a touch of ground frost and a few mist or fog patches towards dawn. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
After a bright start, cloud will thicken from the west to bring outbreaks of rain and strengthening winds through the afternoon. The rain heavy at times, especially on the hills. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Friday cloudy and breezy with showers or longer spells of rain. Saturday brighter with a few showers, and less windy. Sunday starting chilly, then showers merging to more general rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.